People Aren't Baseballs

For those of you that know me well, you know that I love baseball. But did you know that the average life span of a major league baseball is only seven pitches? In tennis, balls are changed out after every seven games.

The reasons are similar for both. Dirt, moisture, the oil from the players' hands all serve to effect the way the balls handle and perform. Seems some things in life lose their usefulness pretty quickly.

Sadly, the same can often be said when it comes to people. Many times, as soon as they fail to perform to our expectations, we quickly toss them aside. Don't treat the people in your life like a baseball, discarding them after just seven pitches.

Romans 12:10

Be devoted to one another in brotherly love. Honor one another above yourselves.

I love you all,

Tim
