Leaves Don't Change Colors

Trish and I were able to take a trip to New Mexico this fall and make the drive around the Enchanted Circle, but did you know that the fall change of colors isn't really a change of colors? The colors we associate with fall are always in the leaf, we just don't see them until they're allowed to come out.

This happens when the chlorophyll, or green color, is broken down due to the decrease of sunlight this time of year. Until then, the green color is dominant, signifying the presence of life. Without the light, the life departs and the green color goes with it. Just like the leaf, this world needs the light of Jesus. In John 8, Jesus tells us where the source of light comes from.

John 8:12

¹² When Jesus spoke again to the people, he said, "I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will never walk in darkness, but will have the light of life."

Do you have "the light of life" today?

I love you all,

Tim
