Can't Hold a Candle

"You think you're so great. Well, you can't hold a candle to so-and-so." Ever heard anyone use this expression? We all know what it means but where did this expression come from?

According to David Feldman, the expression comes from 16th century England when "linkboys" were hired to hold candles for upper class Britains as they walked darkened streets. The job required little to no education or ability. So if someone couldn't "hold a candle," they were considered even lower than a linkboy.

Do you ever look down on others, considering them lower than a linkboy? When we do this we are guilty of judging others by their status in society rather than by the value given to them by God. So the next time you see someone and immediately pass judgment on them, remember there'd be many a bruised Brit having tripped upon rocks or ruts in the road had there not been linkboys to light their way.

Matthew 7:1-2

Do not judge, or you too will be judged. For in the same way you judge others, you will be judged, and with the measure you use, it will be measured to you.

I love you all,
Tim
