Happy Birthday Pothole

Chloe Bryan with MASHABLE.COM reports:

Jackson, Mississippi resident Eddie Prosser was tired of the pothole that had graced his neighborhood for a year, unfixed. So he got the city's attention — by throwing the pothole a birthday party.

The delightful display featured a festive birthday balloon as well as a giant birthday card reading, "Happy Birthday, Pothole!" in beautiful script. To drive the point home, the sign also said, "I've been here for over a year!"

Prosser told WJTV News that although the sign was intended as a joke, he really was frustrated with the city's lack of action. Finally, after local news outlets reported on the pothole party, the city fixed it.

Celebrating a pothole is a strange way to address the problem, but in the case of Eddie Prosser, it was the change of attitude that finally worked. Maybe it's time for a change of attitude toward the potholes in your life. Instead of sitting around resenting your troubles, maybe it's time to take a different tactic.

James 1:2

Count it all joy, my brothers, when you meet trials of various kinds.

I love you all,

Tim
