Are Alarms Going Off In Your Life?

A Pennsylvania man is reminded every day that he wasn't as smart as he thought he was:

Jerry Lynn told KDKA-TV that an alarm clock he lost inside the wall of his home rings at 7:50 p.m. each day — during Daylight Savings Time — and at 6:50 p.m. otherwise.

Lynn says he tied the clock to a string in September 2004 and lowered it into the wall through a vent in his Ross Township home. Lynn set the alarm hoping noise would help him drill a hole in the right spot through which to pass a TV cable. But the battery-operated clock fell off the string and has stayed inside the wall ever since.

Lynn has been unable to retrieve the clock and figured the battery would eventually die. So far, it hasn't.

Are there alarms going off in your life? Do you find yourself dealing with the consequences of past mistakes; little annoying reminders that you weren't as clever as you thought you were? Don't spend your life waiting for the batteries of past decisions to finally run down.

Matthew 11:28

²⁸ "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest.

I love you all,

Tim
