How to Spread Gossip

Kent Crockett shares the following story about the ease of the spread of gossip:

A woman in a certain village spread a slanderous story about her boss. Later she regretted it and asked his forgiveness. He said, "I forgive you but I want you to do something. I have a large bag of feathers that I want you to take to the town tower. Go to the top and scatter the feathers to the wind." She did as he requested and returned.

He said, "Now go gather the feathers and bring them back to me." She said, "But that's impossible. They are scattered everywhere." "That's right," he replied. "I forgive you. But remember that the false information you spread about me is scattered everywhere and it cannot be recalled."

Proverbs 20:19

A gossip betrays a confidence; so avoid anyone who talks too much.

Remember that whoever gossips to you will also gossip about you.

I love you all,

Tim
