*Since we have these promises, dear friends, let us purify ourselves from everything that contaminates body and spirit, perfecting holiness out of reverence for God.
2 Corinthians 7:1*

The Bible Says

God said, "Be holy, for I am holy" (Leviticus 11:44). This command was repeated in the New Testament in 1 Peter 1:16. The first thing we understand from this command is that God is holy. This is such a fundamental aspect of God's nature that it becomes obvious. A great deal is said about God's holiness in scripture. God and holiness go hand in hand. The other part of this command talks about us being holy. Thinking about this tends to make us uncomfortable and stop talking about holiness in general. We need to learn from, and emulate as well as we can, God's character. He is loving, and we need to be loving. He is good, and we need to be good. He is merciful, and we need to be merciful. He is full of grace, and we need to exhibit grace in the way we deal with others. We can understand how these attributes can be attainable. But holiness can become, in our minds, more of a stretch.

The word "holy" conveys the idea of being set apart to God. It describes a life that is separated from sin and consecrated to God. Holiness is a designation of distinctiveness. That distinctiveness begins with the way people think and becomes visible in the way they live. Living a holy life is to be set apart from the world and worldly behavior. God expects His followers to live holy lives. Paul's instruction in 2 Corinthians 7:1 is intriguing: "...let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God" (2 Cor. 7:1). We cannot be holy while living in sinfulness. Then, we must dedicate ourselves to living our life that is pleasing to God, that is, according to His holy will. When we do that, God will count us as holy.

Let us purify ourselves from everything that contaminates body and spirit, perfecting holiness out of reverence for God.

2 Corinthians 7:1
