Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. People reap what they sow. Galatians 6:7

THE BIBLE SAYS

Apostle Paul said, "Let us not grow weary of doing good" (Galatians 6:9). After exhorting the believers in Galatia and warning them of the things they should avoid, Paul may have known they would be feeling overwhelmed with the responsibilities of the Christian life. So, he encourages them with these words. Paul, perhaps better than anyone, knew how wearying the spiritual battle can be. He ends his warnings about sin, the works of the flesh, and the deceitfulness of the world, by encouraging the Galatians and all believers, to remember the joyful harvest we will reap if we persevere in doing good. "As we have opportunity," Paul says in the next verse, "let us do good to all people, especially to those who belong to the family of believers."

We all know what it means to do good and not evil. Paul has just summarized the works of the sinful nature and the fruit of the Spirit. Doing good involves yielding to the desires of the Holy Spirit instead of yielding to our own nature and desires. When we are keeping in step with the Spirit, He is dominant in our lives, and doing good is the inevitable result. These good deeds produced from the Fruit of the Spirit are a reason God saves those who show faith in Him. Ephesians 2:8-10 says to the church, "For by grace you are saved through faith, and this is not from yourselves; it is God's gift— not from works, so that no one can boast. For we are His creation— created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared ahead of time so that we should walk in them." These good works do not blur the significance of the saving grace of God but reveal it. They are His predetermined purpose and decree for those who are created anew, born again, saved in Christ.

Growing weary in doing good is an ever-present danger in the Christian life. But Paul points our minds beyond our labors, toward God's chosen season of reaping. "Those who sow to please their sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction and death; but those who sow to please the Spirit, from the Spirit will reap eternal life" (Galatians 6:8).

News

Britt Rouse's mom, Leella Baker, fell and broke her hip. She had hip replacement Tuesday morning. She is doing well and will go back to her home at Landmark Nursing and Rehab in Amarillo this weekend.

Miko Tucker's day surgery went well on Wednesday. She was able to go home that day.

David Malone is now in Swisher Memorial Hospital in swing bed. Please keep him in your prayers.

Buttons Carlisle had knee replacement surgery on his left knee Wednesday. His surgery went well.

Vickie Culwell's daughter, Halle McHenry, had surgery in Dallas on Thursday to remove a benign tumor from her bladder. Vickie remained in Tulia to care for grandkids while Craig has helped Halle in Dallas.

Hayley Klein is homesick and would love to hear from us. Her address is on the activity table.

We welcome two new families into our church family! Kelly and Mitzi Perry, along with Kelly's mother, Janice Perry, and also Agatha Johnson. We are so happy to have these new members in our family!

Activities

The church in Kress is celebrating their 5th year anniversary. They have invited us to a potluck following our worship today. They will eat about 12 or 12:15.

Our evening service and sandwich supper is today, November 9, starting at 6. The AIMers will eat with us.

Next Sunday will be our 3rd Sunday potluck and early service. We will welcome the AIMers again.

The Kleins will be taking the youth to Crosbyton next Sunday, leaving at 3:30, for a youth devotional.

Mission Sunday is set for November 23. The goal this year is $37,500.
